Cleveland Nabbed In Furious Gun Fight In New York City

NEW YORK — A 37-year-old gunman, deadly accurate with a small arsenal, fought a furious gun battle with police in Times Square streets early today. He and six others fell wounded.

Police identified the gunman as Clarence O. Sims of Cleveland, a Negro. Cleveland police said he is wanted there on an armed robbery charge.

At least four patrolmen, three of whom were injured seriously, lined up on the side of the law in the battle fought as late theater and tavern goers made their ways home through the busy midtown Manhattan amusement center.

Sims reportedly fought alone, but he boasted to police that he had a gang here; and three unidentified men were picked up for questioning. Police said it was possible a member of his gang participated in the shooting.

3 Bystanders Wounded
Dozens of passersby dodged for cover as the bullet ricocheted off the pavement and walls; but three shots found their marks in hapless bystanders. However, none of them was seriously injured.

The gunman became embroiled with the police while they were stopping an argument between a Negro and a white man, he was reported to have on him a .45 caliber automatic and a .38 caliber foreign pistol plus 50 rounds of ammunition for the two weapons.

An empty .38 revolver was found in the street, and police said this third weapon may have been used by Sims or one of his friends.

Police said Sims intervened as a patrolman tried to pacify two arguing men.

The officer, Patrolman George McAuliffe backed Sims against a building wall.

Hit Three Times
It was then, police said, that Sims pulled the .45 and fired three shots at McAuliffe. Each bullet found its mark.

Another officer, Patrolman Robert Knox, 32, saw the crowd and started to investigate. Sims fired one shot at Knox as he ran towards an automobile. The shot tumbled Knox to the pavement.

Despite his wound, Knox fired at the fleeing gunman.

Army Is Ordering Armored Shorts

WASHINGTON — The Army said today it is ordering armored shorts for its troops in Korea. Together with the armored vest the two garments will give protection to the entire torso.

The Army said the armored shorts resemble a prize fighter's trunks and weigh only four pounds. The vest weighs eight pounds.

Specifically designed to protect the hips, abdomen and groin, the garment has been tentatively designed as "armor, lower torso."

It is made of 12 layers of flexible, laminated nylon duck encased in a water-resistant plastic layer with an outer covering of nylon fabric.

The vest, made of the same materials, has been demonstrated in Korea to deflect about 65 per cent of all types of missiles and to reduce chest and upper abdominal wounds by about 60 per cent.

The Army said 1,000 of the new armored shorts will be ready for delivery to Korea in February.

Election Board May Revise 7 Precincts Here

Survey To Be Made As Result Of Heavy Balloting Nov. 4

The Columbiana County election board agreed Tuesday night on a survey to decide whether 14 precincts in which top-heavy votes cast as the Nov. 4 election should be made smaller. Seven of them are in Salem and the others in scattered township locations.

"Additional precincts undoubtedly be created," Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk said after the board's meeting at East Liverpool City Hall.

He indicated five or six may be set up in Salem, which has 14 precincts at present.

In seven of the Salem polling places more than 500 votes were cast at the Nov. 4 presidential election, O'Hanlon pointed out. Several showed nearly 700 votes.

The top-heavy Salem precincts are A and D in the First Ward, B in the Third and A, B, C and E in the Fourth, O'Hanlon said.

Other precincts the board will include in its survey are North and South of Perry Township in the Salem area, North precinct in Center in the Lisbon district, both Calcutta and West of St. Clair, Unity in Unity Township and Northeast of Fairfield Township.

East Liverpool and Wellsville are not to be affected by the change.

"There are a few heavy precincts in the two cities but nothing serious," said O'Hanlon. "From an economy standpoint, the board does not consider it necessary to do anything." Not long ago several new precincts were created in East Liverpool which relieved the situation, especially in the East end.

He said the board "always has worked on the theory that economy is the best policy so it will not create precincts except where emergencies exist."

Creating an extra precinct in a sub-division in which primaries are held—meaning two elections on alternate years—adds an estimated $300 annually to operating expenses, O'Hanlon explained.

In other locations the cost runs about $200 per year for each precinct, including personnel, grounds, transportation of equipment, pollbooks and other expenses, he said.

Equipment for a new precinct costs an additional $150 to $200, O'Hanlon concluded.

Knox School Levy Approved By Voters

Knox Township School District voters approved a three-mill school operating levy at special election Tuesday.

The vote was 552 to 92 or 85.7 per cent for passage.

The balloting by precincts showed: North Georgetown 134 affirmative votes to 35 negative; Mile Branch 172 to 22; Homeworth 219 to 32; Damascus 27 to 3.

The three-mills is for two years with an estimated yield of $10,000.

101 In County Obtain Deer Hunting Permits

One hundred and one Columbiana County sportsmen have purchased permits to hunt deer when the season opens Thursday, despite the fact that deer hunting will not be permitted in this county.

County Game Warden Rufus Lide said 40 deer hunting permits in Salem. He will be at his home at Westville Lake tonight to sell permits to late-comers.

Deer hunting will be permitted in Jefferson County. The season continues Friday and Saturday.

To Take Bids On Ohio 'Pike Job

Suit Seeks To Get Asphalt Considered

COLUMBUS, O. — The Ohio Turnpike Commission says it will take bids Jan. 3 for concrete construction on sections of the 24-mile Northern Ohio toll road despite court action designed to make the commission consider asphalt bids.

The commission reaffirmed Tuesday night its decision to pave the superhighway with concrete.

Richard Shafer of the Ohio Road Improvement Co. is seeking a court order to make the commission take bids on both types of paving.

The commission withdrew advertisements to build the first 5.2 miles of the road after Shafer filed his legal action in the court of appeals.

But John Lansdale of Cleveland, one of the commission's legal advisers, said the group could proceed with its plans. J. E. Greinbois Co., of Baltimore, the turnpike's consulting engineer, recommended concrete.

The commission again approved its engineer's report for a 10-inch reinforced concrete paving on a six-inch selected sub-base.

Lansdale called untrue Shafer's claims that the use of concrete would create a monopoly and increase cement prices.

Commissioners said they hoped to have the first 22 miles in eastern Ohio completed late next year.

Ike's Love Of Golf, Economy May Dock Presidential Yacht

ABOARD USS HELENA. En route to Hawaii — It looks as if President-elect Dwight Eisenhower's passion for golf, fresh-water fishing and frugality in government will leave no place for the ocean-going yacht, the Williamsburg, as a presidential retreat in the next four years.

The chances are, friends say, that Eisenhower will try to find a mountain retreat somewhere near Washington—one with a small golf course—as his hideaway from White House duties.

And they say his plans rule out the Williamsburg not only as being too expensive a luxury but one not suited to his ideas of recreation.

The ideal summer White House retreat at about 2,500 feet altitude, not too far from Washington. Good fishing water would be a must and also the golf course.

It would have to be close to the White House because Ike might want to sneak away on Fridays and not return until Sunday night. Some say he has thought that maybe former President Herbert Hoover's old retreat at Rapidan, Va., might fill the bill—or some place similar. He doesn't want anything fancy.

President Truman preferred Key West for his vacations and he liked to have the Williamsburg around for week-end cruises from time to time.

The Williamsburg has a crew of more than 100 and like all yachts it costs a lot to run. Nobody knows just how much, because in government bookkeeping it's a training ship for the Navy.

The yacht was sold to the government by Hugh Chisholm, head of the Bath Iron Works, and was used in World War II as a convoy flag ship in the North Atlantic. It was converted as a White House yacht in 1946.

Won't Stay Atom Spies' Execution

NEW YORK — A federal judge refused today to stay the executions of convicted atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg who are scheduled to die at Sing Sing prison the week of Jan. 11.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, in denying a motion to stay their execution, also denied another motion by their attorneys to have their convictions set aside.

Then Judge Ryan denied an application by their co-defendant, Morton Sobell, to have his 30-year prison sentence set aside on constitutional grounds. Sobell recently was removed to Alcatraz Prison.

All three were convicted on March 29, 1951, of conspiring with a former Soviet vice-consul and others to transmit atomic secrets to the Soviet Union between 1944 and 1950.

Solons Study Finance Woes

3 Sources Of Income Discussed At Session

Three major sources of additional city income were discussed at the three-hour long committee-of-the-whole Council meeting held Tuesday night at City Hall but no definite action was taken by the lawmakers.

Council President Ned Massa said today that Council debated the possibilities of securing additional revenue through local license measures, a local amusement tax or an income tax.

City solicitor Walter J. Hunston submitted a 14-point proposal as a means of alleviating the city's financial situation.

His proposal included the securing of additional money through raising the costs of taxi licenses and building permits, the creation of a municipal court, establishment of a charge for fire inspections, creation of a tax on real estate transfers and a sewer tax.

Mayor Harry M. Vincent and Mr. Hunston gave reports of the meeting of the Ohio Municipal League in Cincinnati which they attended last week.

That meeting was concerned with the financial and traffic problems afflicting many Ohio municipalities, the officials said. The League is spearheading a drive to increase the revenue which cities receive from the state's sales tax.

Way Is Cleared For Conference Between Pair

Dissipates Coolness Campaign Developed; Messages By Cable

ABOARD USS HELENA. En route to Hawaii — President-elect Dwight Eisenhower is willing to hear any plan his old commander, Gen Douglas MacArthur, may have for ending the Korean War.

An exchange of messages, announced yesterday aboard this heavy cruiser carrying the President-elect and members of his projected administration back to the U. S., cleared the way for a meeting between Eisenhower and MacArthur.

It also appeared to dissipate whatever coolness had developed between the two former chiefs of staff during the presidential campaign, when MacArthur supported Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio for the GOP nomination.

"I am looking forward to informal meetings in which my associates and I may obtain the full benefit of your thinking and experience" on Korea and the Far East, Eisenhower radioed MacArthur Sunday.

MacArthur replied on Monday: "I am grateful for your interest in my views."

May Be Key To Peace
"A successful solution might well become the key to peace in the world."

The exchange followed MacArthur's speech Friday, when he told the National Association of Manufacturers in New York that "there is a clear and definite solution to the Korean Conflict" without unduly increasing casualties or furthering the risk of world war.

MacArthur implied then a willingness to present his views to Eisenhower.

Eisenhower quickly sent a radio-gram to MacArthur saying he and his advisers were in the process of "outlining a future program" aimed at ultimate peace in Korea. He said he wanted MacArthur's views.

This exchange of messages appeared in the Washington Post.

Plan Survey On Proposed Milk Code

Groups representing two contending factions in the controversy over the proposed Columbiana County sanitary milk code took the first step to resolving their differences last week by acting on a Farm Bureau Federation recommendation that a survey be made of the milk problem in the county and determine if a milk code is advisable.

All interested parties are to be invited to form a joint committee for this purpose.

Object of this committee is to propose the form of survey to be made and the method by which it will be conducted, results of the survey to show whether or not a milk ordinance is advisable.

Nelson Baunach of Salem, of the Farm Bureau, is serving as temporary chairman to form the committee.

Present at the meeting were groups representing the grange, Columbiana County Board of Health and Health Department, Farm Bureau Federation, township trustees association, and a veterans-on-the-farm-training class.

Ohio Farmers Want Agriculture Center Established At OSU

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Farmers, who conduct a billion-dollar business annually in Ohio, want an agricultural center established at Ohio State University.

An Action Committee for Agricultural Research and Education headed by H. E. Frederick of Marysville outlined an expanded farm program for Gov. Frank J. Lausche's consideration.

The governor, without offering an opinion, estimated the committee's proposals would require additional appropriations of more than 18 million dollars in the next two years.

The problem, along with other requests for increased appropriations, probably will land in the lap of the Legislature that convenes Jan. 5.

The action committee's program envisions an agricultural center west of the Olentangy River from the OSU campus along lines of the university's Medical Center.

"It is needed to serve as a focal point for all agricultural interests of the state and to relieve the congested inadequate facilities now available for agricultural students," the committee said.

The group said present buildings were designed for half the number now enrolled in agriculture and home economics courses. The present Agriculture College enrollment is 1,434 and the school of home economics 556.

The veterinary college is overcrowded and can take less than a third of those who apply for entrance, the report added.

The committee program proposed $6,400,000 worth of new buildings for the College of Agriculture and $6,550,000 for new structures in the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Sought for the Agricultural College are a two million dollar administration and classroom building, dairy center, meats laboratory, agricultural engineering building, agronomy building, horticulture and forestry building with greenhouses, and some additions.

New Veterinary College Buildings would include a basic science unit with classrooms, a clinical unit with an X-ray department and a research unit.

Increases for operating the Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster would total $1,425,000 mostly for maintenance and personnel. Another $2,700,000 is sought for new buildings, land and equipment. This includes a one million dollar agronomy and forestry building, a service building and an engineering laboratory.

Sought for the agricultural extension service at Ohio State University is another $920,000. The service received $543,770 for the year ending June 30, 1953. The agricultural experiment station got $998,113 for the same period.

Sought for agricultural research is an additional $614,000 for two years. The division of vocational education in the state education department had a two-year appropriation of $1,030,000.

The committee said less than 12 per cent of Ohio's population is engaged in producing food and fiber on farms.

"This serves to emphasize efficiency of production, making each acre, each animal produce increasingly greater amounts," the committee said.

"This requires research and the educational assistance that gets new technology applied. Most new advances in agriculture require from 10 to 15 years of educational effort before any great percentage of farmers adopt them."

"Acceleration of this adoption is a job for agricultural extension, supported by an aggressive program of resident instruction for students, and short courses for adults."

The committee said its program reflects "the thinking of every segment of related interests in the future welfare of Ohio."

Post Offices To Hire 375,000 "Extras"

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Post Office Department said today it plans to maintain its Christmas mail delivery standards this year despite continuing deficits in operating funds.

In large and small offices throughout the country, postmasters already are hiring the first of an estimated 375,000 "extras." They will be taken on temporarily to assist the regular force of 500,000.

As in the past two years, Postmaster General Donaldson has instructed the force to disregard, for the Christmas season, the one-day delivery system he made effective in 1950, along with other service cuts.

Deliveries, says Donaldson, will be made as often as necessary to keep the mail moving. Multiple deliveries will begin in most areas around Dec. 15.

Says Accent Earns British Commission

LONDON (AP) — A Laborite member of Parliament says that British Army officers are selected for their accents and not for their competence.

The charge was made in the House of Commons yesterday by George Wigg, a onetime regular Army private who rose to the rank of colonel. He quoted an Army statement to the effect that 80 per cent of draftees' granted commissions live south of a line drawn across the country through the Midlands industrial center of Birmingham.

British accents vary according to geographical locations. Wigg, himself, is from Dudley—a mile or two north of the Birmingham line.

War Minister Anthony Head agreed that most of the commissions were granted men from south of the Birmingham line. This is "a fact that has been known for years," he declared but gave no explanation.

Pity The Short Man

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Dear Mr. Poor Man's Philosopher:

"Can't you ever let well enough alone? Recently you wrote an article saying you felt sorry for real tall people on account of they were a nuisance to themselves and had trouble fitting into a civilization built for ordinary-sized men."

"Well, you just broke the heart of my little boy, Elbert. He had always wanted to be a giant. Now he says if it's no fun to grow up to be a giant, then he'll grow back down and be a midget. He will, too . . . stubborn little tyke . . . hasn't grown an inch all week."

"This has my wife upset. She says, 'Isn't it bad enough to be married to a husband with a mind like a midget?'"

"What we both want to know is: How can we make our Elbert want to be a giant again?" (Signed) Indignant Father"

I guess the best thing to do is to give little Elbert the other side of the picture. A number of readers have written in to say there is no pleasure in life being tall enough to reach up and chin yourself on the nearest elm tree.

It turns out most human Alps enjoy the air at their altitude, and wouldn't lose an inch if they could. The positive advantages of being tall were best expressed by John Schmiedeler of the Salina, Kan., Journal, who started knee-high to a telephone pole and recently was estimated by a local trigonometry student to have paused at six-feet-six inches.

"When I go to a parade, I see a parade, not the back of the neck of the man in front of me," wrote Schmiedeler.

"I can change a light bulb without danger to limb from shaky ladders."

"It's true that not all clothing stores welcome the sight of me stooping through the door frame. But there are those who do cater to the long man, and they are increasing in number."

"I never had much trouble in the army. I warned the draft board the day I was inducted that clothing me was a government project from now on. And since I said either get me a uniform and boots or let me stay in the sack all day. I was outfitted quickly."

Schmiedeler said his puny five-foot-plus buddies had no edge over him in taking cover in time of danger. He recalled that during one night air raid alarm he dug "a slit trench across two hills and a valley before Bed-Check Charlie (the enemy pilot) got his engine warmed up."

He also pointed out that an army pack seemed lighter to a tall man because he had more back to carry it on, and he could set a walking pace hard for the little guy to keep up.

"Imagine how much better off I am in a snow storm," Schmiedeler continued. "I waded the drifts easily that the small man must avoid for fear of suffocation."

"It's true that I bump my head on a door jamb occasionally, but I never get elbowed in the mush on a crowded bus."

"There have been some tall men who, inferiority complex or not, did mighty deeds. Remember Abe Lincoln? He wasn't a small man. You wouldn't call Gustav V of Sweden a shrimp and he was a king."

"On the distaff side there is Eleanor Roosevelt. Then there is the bevy of tall New York show girls. Their talents are obvious, and if they have any complexes at all I'll lay odds they are not of inferiority."

As to my observation that tall men'd get one bonus in the fact that an awful lot of girls like to lean on their shoulders, Schmiedeler said:

"I find the sweet young things rarely able to reach a shoulder. But, brother, do I get cried on just above the belt buckle!"

There you are, indignant father. Tell little Elbert that if he really finds a way to grow up to be a giant to let me know. I have changed my mind and think I'd like to try to be one, too.

Sets Out To Break Globe-Girdling Record

PARIS (AP) — Jean Marie Audibert, a Marseille newspaper man, headed for the Middle East today in his second attempt to set a new record for globe-girdling by commercial aircraft.

A reporter for Le Provençal, Audibert left Paris last night on a trip sponsored by his newspaper and the Monaco radio station. He tried the stunt last September but mechanical trouble held him up in Karachi.

His itinerary — via Air France, TWA and Pan American — includes Beirut, Karachi, Calcutta, Manila, Guam, Wake, Honolulu, San Francisco, Chicago, New York and back to Paris.

The current record—4 days 23 hours 47 minutes — is held by Thomas J. Lamphier of New York.

Durkin Believes Taft Fair On Labor Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — Martin P. Durkin who has been named to be secretary of labor in the Eisenhower Cabinet said today he is certain Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) will be "reasonable and fair minded" about discussing changes in the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

The secretary-designate said he regards Taft who was sharply critical of the President-elect's choice of Durkin as "a fair-minded man." Taft called Durkin a "patriotic Truman Democrat" and said his selection as labor secretary was "incredible."

"Durkin told a reporter he is hopeful that organized labor and management can find a middle ground of agreement on the potentially explosive question of labor legislation."

Christina Jorgenson Hired For Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Film producer Al Rosen says he has signed up Christina Jorgenson, the girl who underwent sex conversion from man to woman in Copenhagen.

Rosen said last night the 26-year-old girl, who served in the American Army as a man, would star in a new version of the comedy "Mary Had a Little," and make stage appearances with the picture.

Rosen claims that Miss Jorgenson, as a man, tried to crash Hollywood three years ago but did not succeed. He said he expects her to come to Hollywood next month.

Miss Jorgenson has undergone operations and treatments and is still under medical care in Copenhagen.

83,000 Books To Be Carried To Library

DE KALB, Ill. (AP) — Eighty-three thousand books are to be moved today the hard way—armful by armful.

A task force of more than 1,500 students and members of the faculty of Northern Illinois Teachers College volunteered to tote the volumes from the old library to a new one, about 100 feet away.

The new Swen Franklin Parson Library was completed recently. It cost two million dollars. But there was no money to pay for the transfer of the books. So the students offered to handle the job. The Administrative Council approved the idea with the proviso that the professors and others be allowed to lend an arm.

Col. Isbell To Be Buried At Ft. Meade

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The colonel who became a hero in Korea because he couldn't call it quits will be laid to rest at services here tomorrow.

Lt. Col. William H. Isbell Jr. was killed while leading an infantry charge on Triangle Hill, one of the strategic blood-soaked mountains prized by the Allies and Communists in the Korea War.

A master sergeant who saw the 45-year-old officer lead the charge called it "the bravest thing I ever saw."

Col. Isbell, by virtue of his age and rank, was qualified for a safe post behind the line of action. But he happened to be on the scene when a company was dug in below the crest of the hill and all the senior officers were wounded.

Seventh Division headquarters in Korea has announced Col. Isbell has been recommended for the Medal of Honor.

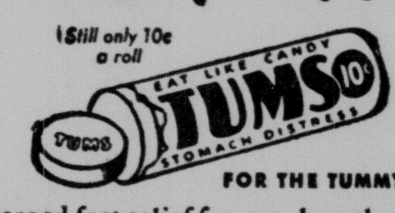

He was a native of Texas and made his home at Gambrells, Md.

250 Commentators To Describe Coronation

LONDON (AP) — The coronation of Queen Elizabeth II next June will be described to the world in 42 languages by 250 radio and television commentators and observers, the British Broadcasting Corporation announced today.

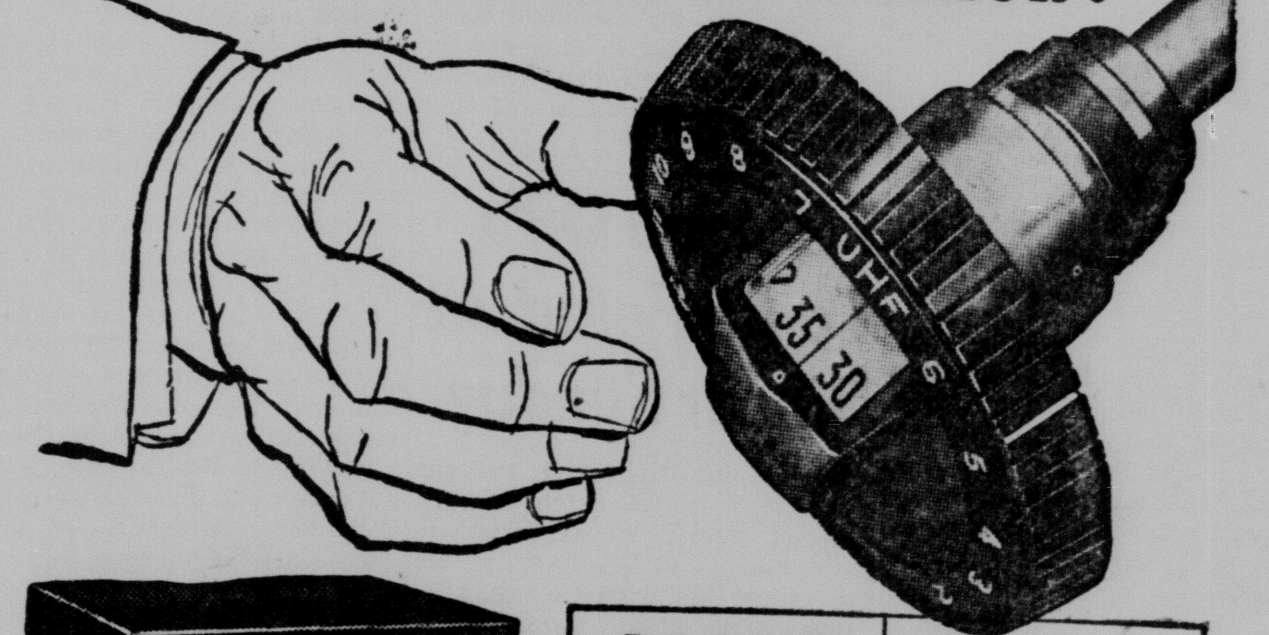

Britain's coronation committee said Monday that all but the key religious parts of the coronation—the anointing, the communion prayers and the administration of the sacrament—would be televised from historic Westminster Abbey. The Queen's colorful procession to and from the ceremony also will be shown on TV.

Urges Boycott Of Wage Board

Chamber Head Hopes WSB Isn't Revived

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Truman administration worked to get its wage-price control machinery back on the tracks today in the face of a demand from a powerful business leader that it be de-railed for good.

Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam promised to round up enough businessmen to fill vacancies caused by the mass resignation of industry members from the Wage Stabilization Board. That made the board inoperative.

But his task was made more difficult because Laurence F. Lee, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, signaled for a boycott of Putnam's efforts. Putnam termed that action "quite surprising." Lee expressed hope in a public statement that "no businessman will lend his services to any effort to reconstitute the Wage Stabilization Board."

"The crisis in the wage control program," Lee said, "clearly emphasizes the fact that wage and price controls should be dropped immediately by executive order so that the inequities of the present system can be wiped out."

"The administration's wage and price control program is but a sham and any service on the wage board would be a waste of time."

It was reported without confirmation that the National Association of Manufacturers was considering a similar statement urging businessmen to refuse posts on the WSB.

The wage board has been unable to operate—with 12,000 wage-increase cases awaiting approval—since industry members resigned last week end. They quit in protest against President Truman's reversal of a WSB ruling on a coal miners' pay increase.

Truman, en route to Washington by train from Independence, Mo., was represented by aides as hopeful that he could appoint a new set of WSB industry members. However, he and Putnam have declared that wage and price controls will be continued in any event.

If enough industry members can't be found to keep the WSB going, Putnam has said wage controls will be handed an individual, or agency, for decisions on pending cases without industry or labor advice.

A decision is likely to be made soon on keeping a wage board functioning or adopting the one-man or one-agency approach. Putnam himself is quitting, planning to leave "for good" this week end and to visit relatives in the West until his resignation takes effect on Jan. 1.

A strong aid to keep price controls going—at least until their expiration date next April 30—was made last night by Putnam and former Price Administrator Michael V. Di Salle.

Di Salle, at Truman's request, made a study of wage-price controls. He said that in the course of it he had talked with more than 30 government officials, congressmen and industry leaders. He said the latter included Bernard Baruch, New York financier; Charles E. Wilson, former president of the General Electric Company and former government mobilization director; and Marion Folsom, Eastman Kodak Company executive.

Di Salle said he found general agreement for keeping controls in effect now and at least on a standby basis—for quick use whenever new inflation threatened — after next April 30.

"Controls will be necessary until we are convinced Russia wants peace," Putnam added.

Turtle Cookies Win Woman Cooking Title

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Peter S. Harlib, the young brunette wife of a Chicago policeman, has won $25,000 and the title of cook-of-the-year, 1952, for a "snappy turtle cookie" with a chocolate shell.

Mrs. Richard Nixon, wife of the vice-president-elect, handed out the national annual homemaking awards Tuesday at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. The contest is sponsored by the Pillsbury Flour Co.

Mrs. Harlib got the idea for the cookie from one of her twin ten-year-old sons who rolled her cookie dough onto turtle legs improvised of pecans when she was talking on the phone one day.

Second prize of $7,500 and a food freezer went to a new version of an old favorite—lemon pie—baked by Mrs. Charles M. Reppert of Port Washington, N. Y. Mrs. Reppert put a cinnamon-egg white-sugar crust on top of a lemon filling laced with paper-thin slices of lemon, upsetting the traditional lemon pie method.

Mrs. Stephen A. Hornung of New York received $2,500 and an automatic clotheswasher for her "baked-on" frosting cake.

Labor Needn't Fear Ike, Union Head Says

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Dave Beck, president of the 1 1/4 million member AFL Teamsters Union, said last night in an interview that bonafide labor unions haven't anything to fear from President-elect Eisenhower.

Beck, who succeeded Dan Tobin as leader of the teamsters this year, cited Eisenhower's designation of Martin P. Durkin, AFL union official, as secretary of labor, as evidence "the people who have consecrated themselves to the destruction of labor" are not guiding the President-elect's hand.

Truman Makes Last Trip In Special Car

ABOARD TRUMAN SPECIAL, En Route to Washington (AP)—President Truman was en route to the capital city today on perhaps his last trip in the well-traveled presidential special car, the Ferdinand Magellan.

The Chief Executive left his home town of Independence, Mo., last night with Mrs. Truman, their daughter Margaret, and the President's brother, J. Vivian Truman of Grandview, Mo.

The President was understood to be at work on problems which have accumulated in his five-day absence from Washington to attend the funeral at Independence of Mrs. Truman's mother, Mrs. David W. Wallace.

More Storms Head For Pacific Coast

By The Associated Press More stormy weather appeared in prospect for areas in the Pacific Coast today but generally fair weather was the outlook for the rest of the country.

Storms warnings were posted along the coast from San Francisco to British Columbia last night as a storm moved in from the North Pacific. Rain and snow in the mountains extended as far south as Central California.

The mild temperatures for this time of year continued over much of the eastern half of the country although some cooler air spread into areas west of the Mississippi River. The strong southerly flow which dominated Midwest weather last night moved eastward to the western slope of the Appalachians. Temperatures were far above seasonal levels, including 60 in Chattanooga, Tenn., 56 in Parkersburg, W. Va., and 58 in Knoxville.

Light rain fell in areas from Georgia northward into the lower Great Lakes region after heavier falls in some sections. Light snow hit parts of the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Men Would Do Better In Girdles, Doctor Says

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Men, too, are going to be doing the Charleston getting into their girdles, says Dr. Burgess Gordon, president of the Women's Medical College, Philadelphia.

Men need girdles and will feel better and be better able to remain in the race with women in politics, industry and medicine, Dr. Gordon told interviewers yesterday.

Some of women's success is due to their girdles, he said, because they get support that elevates the abdomen and facilitates the movement of air in and out of the lungs, thus contributing to the entrance of oxygen into the tissues.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Exertion For Angina Patients

Translated into English, Angina pectoris means pain in the chest. This common disorder is caused by a diseased condition of the arteries which supply blood to the heart muscle.

These blood vessels are called the coronary arteries. When not enough blood passes through them to supply the needs of the heart muscle, in the chest or pain develops nearby.

Dr. Jordan

In angina the coronary arteries do allow some blood to pass through. Consequently, the pain exercising only slightly; it comes on when the heart muscle is working harder and needs greater quantities of blood.

A person who has angina pectoris thus has to learn how much exertion he or she can take without producing symptoms. Symptoms, in addition to the pain, often include a feeling of anxiety, sweating and shortness of breath.

In years gone by it was often thought that a person with angina pectoris could not live long and could not avoid suffering great discomfort. Both of these frightening beliefs have proved unduly pessimistic.

Most angina victims, if they get proper treatment and adjust their activities, can enjoy life as much as before and have little discomfort and that only rarely.

The outlook for life is not nearly so dismal as was formerly believed. The average life expectancy after the first signs of angina is about eight to 10 years, and many live for more than 25 years.

In addition to the better outlook which is now recognized, methods of improved management are being developed constantly.

The amount and kind of exercise can be closely adapted to the patient's ability and this is made possible in part by the newer methods of finding out how severe the underlying process really is.

Until research workers have discovered a means of preventing hardening of the arteries, angina pectoris will continue to occur. One should realize, however, that while angina is a serious condition, it does not mean the end of all good things. Sensible adjustment to the new circumstances is necessary, of course, but usually this can be accomplished with great success.

3 Steubenville Police Officers Are Suspended

STEUDEVILLE, O. (AP)—Safety Director Frank Alely suspended three patrolmen indefinitely today on departmental charges of conduct unbecoming police officers. They will stay off the force, he said, until he makes a complete investigation.

Alely said two of the patrolmen, John Stojack, 29, and Wincil Poole, 28, were involved in a tavern brawl while off duty but still in uniform.

The third, Horace Hampton, 35, was seen slipping out of a disreputable honky-tonk just before some of his fellow policemen raided it, Alely said.

Bundles For California

It's beginning to be plain that Californians
talk about their climate for the same reason Texans boast about Texas — they are keeping stiff upper lips under the hammer blows of adversity.

The fact has been a long time emerging from the welter of publicity which has concealed from many of us the fact we live in a climatic paradise of the earth and Californians are jealous.

Moreover, they are frightened. Having built a cardboard empire out of the stuff which makes advertising men's eyes glisten, they know all too well a few more snowstorms, rainstorms, hailstorms, windstorms and earthquakes could send hundreds of thousands of fickle immigrants back where they came from.

They could discover in California what men
have discovered since the beginning of time
when they wandered away from home — that the siren songs which tempt them to eat of the lotus conceal the rumbles of indignation among the natives who grew up on the stuff.
Poor California, there they go!

Prisoners To Be

It continues to be true that Americans do not understand why the prisoner-of-war issue in Korea is vital to both sides.

It continues to be true, unfortunately, because no attempt ever was made by their government to tell them. Perhaps the Eisenhower administration will rise above the original New Deal
credo of recent years that "the people are too dumb to know what's good for them."

The prisoner-of-war issue is vital in terms of prisoners to be, in the event that Soviet Union decides it wants to fight a major war, calling on its satellites to spill their blood for the Kremlin.

If every satellite soldier knew in advance
that he could go over to the enemy and never be sent back for punishment at the hands of the Communists, desertions would be wholesale.

The Kremlin can command no voluntary allies.
Whatever assistance it gets must be involuntary.
Even then the fuse was burning too close for side in the event of war is kept uppermost among the fears of the Communist high command by Allied refusal to yield on prisoner-of-war issue
in negotiations for a Korean truce.

End Of A Long Fuse

Whether or not the explosion will occur now or later, the end of a long fuse is being reached in New York City.

The New York State Crime Commission investigation of water-front racketeering has revealed that the racketeers had things their own way because public officials were working the same side of the street.

This was the explosive possibility approached
by the Senate Crime Committee when Sen.
Kefauver was its chairman in 1950. The Democratic political bosses who were running the big cities at that time never forgave Kefauver for scaring them.

It was not for his health and certainly not for his outstanding qualifications that William O'Dwyer suddenly resigned as mayor of New York and went to Mexico as U.S. ambassador.
Even then the fuse was burning too close for comfort. New York was too hot for O'Dwyer.

The same names which kept cropping out in the Kefauver hearings are cropping out again in the Crime Commission hearings. They will crop out in any investigation of the alliance between racketeers and the Democratic party
during the lush years when the bossed vote of the big cities, plus the captive vote of the Deep South, plus the votes of people who thought nothing was going on but good clean policies
made the Democratic party practically unbeatable.

Did India Speak For China?

In the vast shakeup of possibilities and plans
which will follow Dwight Eisenhower's assumption of responsibility for definitive action in Korea, it may be vitally important that the United Nations voted overwhelmingly to support
India's truce proposal.

There is one possibility which both soldiers and diplomats are aware of—that India may have proposed its plan with a view to reminding the Chinese government that Delhi is interested in China; that Moscow is not the only capital with an eye on Peking.

It is assumed for both military and diplomatic purposes that the Kremlin is giving direct orders to the Chinese and North Koreans in Korea. But it cannot be ruled out as a possibility that the Chinese may become tired of carrying out the Kremlin's orders.

That is the significance of India's truce proposal and its acceptance by the United Nations, except for Soviet-bloc members. The leading Asiatic member of U.N. has offered another government a way out of a dilemma
which otherwise cannot be resolved without further wholesale destruction of Chinese lives
on the bloody altar of the Communist conspiracy.

Merit Above Politics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Like Selecting Competent Men For Jobs

What does a president-elect think about? Policies? Plans? Legislation?

The answer is that above all else Gen. Eisenhower is thinking about men—about personnel. For,
while the new administration probably will do the first real job in overhauling the antiquated and cumbersome federal mechanism,
this cannot mean very much without competent personnel.

Gen. Eisenhower, according to close friends who have discussed
the subject with him recently, is now concerned with the calibre
and quality of the men who will have the number two and number three posts in the big government departments. Some of these appointees are responsible for administration and money expenditure and personnel far larger than many of America's major corporations.

The idea that the Cabinet secretary administers his whole department is obsolete. It may seem that way to large sections of the public, because of the widespread unfamiliarity with Washington operations, but actually an undersecretary and a first assistant secretary can exercise far more authority and influence on policy than
the head of a department.

Take the case of the Department of State. An assistant secretary who has charge of the Middle East is for all practical purposes the President of the United States for that policy-making function. This is because the chief executive delegates to the secretary of state, and the latter in turn must necessarily delegate power to make policy to the assistant secretary who has charge of a vast region of the world.

Authority is even more dispersed
in some of the other government departments, where the number two and number three and sometimes even the number four man
have jurisdictions all their own.

How shall competent persons be chosen for these posts. Gen. Eisenhower is determined to find men and women of first-rate ability. He is also determined not to fill these jobs by the selection of party favorites without regard to their capacity or competence. Because recent administrations have appointed to such posts party hacks, cronies and political favorites, many persons in non-governmental positions today who might be asked to serve may feel that the prestige of those so-called secondary offices has been diluted or diminished. But the moment the yardstick is efficiency
and real ability and the public knows this from Gen. Eisenhower himself, many persons will consider it an honor to be asked to serve.

Gen. Eisenhower hopes by his selections to show the people that he is interested in merit above anything else. Not only must he pick outstanding men for the assistants to the department heads, but he is up against an even tougher problem in selecting members of the various boards and commissions like the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Securities and Exchange Commission,

the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, and the National Labor Relations Board.

The terms of some of the present
members of these boards and commissions do not expire with the ending of the Truman administration. Congress has fixed the terms in most cases so that they are staggered over the years and do not all begin or end at the same time.

Most of the members of these boards and commissions, however,
can, if they like, serve out their terms, though many of them, knowing they will not be reappointed, will resign to take advantage of opportunities in private life.

President Roosevelt did remove the late William E. Humphrey as a member of the Federal Trade Commission in 1933 only to have the Supreme Court of the United States reverse him on the ground that the Commission is a quasi-judicial body. Mr. Roosevelt was quite brusque about it—he wrote
Mr. Humphrey something to the effect that he didn't think "your mind will go along with mine."

Then and there was exposed the real vice of the New Deal. It didn't want fair-minded judges or members of federal agencies unless they believed in the New Deal ideology. It regarded judicial questions as subject to executive influence.

It is to be hoped that Gen. Eisenhower will make clear to all the quasi-legislative and quasi-judicial agencies that they are to construe
the powers granted them by Congress as limited and not to try to usurp powers never intended by Congress for them to exercise.

Much of the resentment accumulated in the last 20 years against the New Deal and its successor
—which was ironically described as the "Fair Deal"—arose out of the adoption of the Machiavellian concept that the end justifies the means.

Executive agencies became instruments and tools of the Democratic National Committee or of the political cronies of the President who told them what to do. As a consequence, scandals arose, and they have not all been exposed as yet either.

Gen. Eisenhower is looking for honest men and women to serve on these commissions and boards
and for the fact that they are temporarily entrusted with the authority of the government of the United States. The president-elect is thinking about this while he is safe bet that it is one of the topics that comes up often in his conferences with the new Cabinet—
how to get competent personnel
to execute the policies of a reorganized federal government.

Untouched By Civilization

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of those typical editorial-
page outbursts against the way
school kids crowd everybody else
off the sidewalks has been sent in, with the suggestion that the same bell be rung again.

In view of the fact this outburst
from another city blames sidewalk crowding and all other offenses of youth committee locally on the way
kids — all kids — are brought up
these days, the bell isn't worth ringing twice. Glib generalization like that one should be dumped into the wastebasket.

They reflect the atrophied mind
of cynics who have been turned sour by the hyper-acidity of their own stomachs. Kids are being brought up better than they ever were before these days, if you look at the right parents.

Naturally, if you look at the wrong parents you will find abundant evidence in their offspring that civilization is going to hell in a basket. The rate of adult delinquency in this country cannot be overestimated. It can only be concealed after a fashion by calling it juvenile delinquency and punishing the children instead of the real culprits.

The children are not to blame. If they have not been taught better than to shove old ladies into the gutter and walk on their tired old faces, it is because they were afflicted with parents who know no better.

If they have not been taught better than to drive automobiles as recklessly as their old man, that seedy specimen should be slugged
in the morgue with them when it's time for the last accident — the fatal one. He is the murderer.

If they do not know how to behave in social groups, if they have never been instructed in the sympathetic understanding which is the basis of good manners, if they do not know how to come down out of the trees and walk with mankind, they weren't brought up right. Being throwbacks was not their idea.

They're no more to be censured
for the ignorance which blighted their chance than a dog which has been taught nothing by its master.
They are the products of bad environment.

They have not been civilized.
They deserve an apology, not a condemnation.

Some will catch on to the rudiments of civilized behavior in due time; they will see the error of their parents' way. Others will never catch on at all.

They will be shoving old ladies
off the sidewalks and comporting themselves like apes on a spree
as long as they live, passing rudeness
from their generation to the next as the only memorable thing
they're possessed of.

But if you look in the right place
you will see children being taught more consideration for others than ever was taught before in the history of civilization. Kids are being brought up in all kinds of ways, from very good to very bad. Their critics should quit shooting broadsides and call their shots.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

All Done By Mirrors

Notes from a subversive's diary: 1934.—
Found myself such a complete convert to Communism that a job with U. S. Government seemed logical. Had a little difficulty finding a berth with Federal Bureau for Preservation of American Ideals until I sang Russian folk songs and played the balalaika.

1937.—Job bored me. Asked for transfer to something else. Upon furnishing proof of affiliation with numerous Red cells and showing birthday greetings from Stalin, was switched to the Keep America Safe Administration. Quite a raise in pay, too.

1940.—Got sudden notification I had been named to Federal Extension of Democracy Board at $2,000 a year more on discovery my late arrivals for work were due to fact I had been up all night attending meetings of subversive organizations and dining with Russian ambassador.

1942.—Army commission as colonel in a highly sensitive area.

1943.—Made a brigadier general in charge of some pretty top secrets.

1944.—Fired out of army after inadvertently showing up for mess with medal of the Russian Order of the Ferocious Ferret on my chest. Wanted a few weeks rest, but this was made impossible by a fast appointment as roving scout for Washington bureaus of economics,
world trade and national defense.

1945.—Asked for still better job but couldn't get it until I could furnish three witnesses
that I had been snooping around atomic energy plants and carting out secret data. Furnished four witnesses to make it sure.

Appointment delayed for ten days until a top official of Soviet in U.S. named me as his bosom pal. I was immediately named chief of the Federal Bureau for More Perfect National Security. Refused to answer questions "What is your name?" on the grounds it was a loaded question.

1947.—Named by three more ex-Communist spies. Government officials grilled me severely at cocktail party but none of us could remember in the morning just what had happened. Got transferred to Federal Aid for Free Peoples Administration. Shorter hours and more dough.

1949.—Had to appear before four boards and explain away testimony of eleven witnesses that I had worked in Commie cells. Refused promotion to a still better job on the ground
twelve witnesses were necessary for appointment.

1950.—Got not only a twelfth witness but a thirteenth and won promotion at once.

1951.—Spent most of year refusing to answer questions by Senate and House Committees.
Took phonograph with me to all investigations
so I could play, "I refuse to answer on the ground it would incriminate and degrade me"
on a recording.

1952.—Heard rumors I may not get promoted to posts of high importance in U.N. or U.S.
Government from here in. Had embarrassing moment in drugstore luncheonette. Clerk asked if I wanted catsup or mustard with my hamburger. I invoked my rights under Fifth Amendment. It is clear I am getting jittery. Is there no justice?

Walt Donnelly, U.S. Ambassador to Germany,

In Austria and in Germany he has been the type of ambassador to arouse cheers as an envoy with guts as well as tact; a guy who could lay it on the line so Russia would understand. . . . Walter says the American election had nothing to do with his decision and that he has long wanted to go into business. . . .
Well he got his first business schooling back home on the New Haven Register under one of the smartest businessmen on earth, John Day Jackson, long before he ever dreamed that he would one day be Uncle Sam's top man in a crucial hour in one of the world's toughest spots.

Mr. Vishinsky has demanded of the United Nations that it gave a clear definition of the word "aggression." Well, we suggest his wish be complied with snappily as follows:

Aggression (In the Moscow sense).—A cry of "Who hit me?" from a semi-conscious man
flat on his back in a dark alley; a Good Samaritan getting off his mule to help a weak
fellowman; anybody trying to pick two strange thumbs out of his own eyes, a fellow leaping overboard in response to a cry for help. (Also a sparrow after a fight with a hawk, a chicken helplessly struggling on the block, a man who,
hit by a bus, doesn't beg the bus' pardon.
Aggression (In the free-world sense).—Anybody who premeditatedly take a blow at anybody else, kicks a midget in the face or heaves
a rock through a nursery. (Everything clear?)

Looking Backward

FROM THE NEWS FILES

FORTY YEARS AGO—Salem has been asked to share in the nationwide movement to preserve as government property Monticello,
in Virginia, the former residence and present resting place of Thomas Jefferson, President of the United States.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO—Enthusiastic
supporters of Herbert Hoover were voicing private claims that he will go into the Republican national convention at Kansas City next June with a minimum of 300 votes on the first ballot.

TEN YEARS AGO—The Red army has spearheaded seven miles deeper into enemy lines
in their six-day effort to regain the initiative
on the central front in Russia, recapturing 13 settlements, while the Germans still have failed
on the Stalingrad front.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Salem's community
Christmas tree, an added attraction of the Yule season, will be set up in front of the Memorial building.

Mt. Everest Gets Taller

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Mount Everest is getting taller.
The world's highest mountain has grown more than 600 feet from the altitude officially accepted,
having been established by numerous precise measurements.

This official altitude is 29,000 feet. Its summit is now 29,610 feet above sea level, according to Dr.
Edouard Wyss-Dunant, leader of the Swiss expedition which attempted to scale the height this summer, but which was driven back by high winds that "were strong enough to pick up rocks
and project them like gunfire."

Dr. Wyss-Dunant's observations at New Delhi after the return of the expedition are quoted in the quarterly journal of the Explorers' Club.

One member of the expedition,
Raymond Lambert, came within 900 feet of the summit, when driven back by the wind-fired rocks.
This is believed to be the greatest height anybody has been able to climb and return alive.

The expedition made its triangulation measurements during the ascent and Dr. Wyss-Dunant believes that the figure given is accurate within a few inches. The growth of the mountain, he believes, is due to upward thrust in the crust of the earth.

Last year the British explorer,
Eric Shipton, reported, from a height of 16,500 feet, three-toed
footprints in the snow which apparently belong to some as yet unknown animal. There are legends of the creature among the Nepalese natives near the foot of the mountain. They called it the "abominable snowman" and said that it eats yaks and children.

The Swiss, Dr. Wyss-Dunant says, observed exactly the same kind of footprints, oval in shape
and of large size.

"I believe they are bears," he says. "In any case, they walk on all fours and leave tracks a foot long."

Indian scientists confirm the observation that Everest constantly is growing taller. Dr. M. S. Kirschau, of the Indian Geological Survey, places its present altitude
at 29,200 and believes it is growing at a rate of about two feet per year.

Mount Everest — the Chinese Communist government has just ordered the name changed on all maps to Chomolungma, the Nepalese term for "goddess mountain" — was discovered almost exactly 100 years ago. It was found by a native computer engaged in a map-making program initiated by Sir George Everest, the former surveyor general of India, and was given his name.

It now has taken the place of the North and South Poles as the goal of explorers. It has become a symbol for the inaccessible.
As a result the Nepalese government has had to regulate traffic there. Only one expedition a year will be permitted, lest the eager explorers get in each other's way.

Next year, Shipton will try again. He has taken advantage of the break while the Swiss tried climbing Cho Oye, 26,700-foot peak 18 miles west of Everest, for the purpose of surveying the region and carrying on research on high-altitude physiology. A Japanese expedition had applied for the 1953 date, but the British had priority.

The French will be given a chance in 1954. If they fail, Shipton or some other Englishman will get a chance to try again. The practical climbing season on Everest is so short that it is not feasible for more than one expedition to try in the same year.

The Swiss expedition used oxygen at the top of the climb.
It is probable that the oxygen apparatus will be completely overhauled in the light of the experience gained and that future expeditions will have the benefit of the improvements.

During the war there were occasional reports of mountains in the same general area higher than Everest. These now have been almost entirely discounted.
The reports are believed to have been due to optical illusions.

The Saarland

By GAULT MacGOWAN

SAARBRUCKEN
The Saarland, tiny coal and steel republic between West Germany and Lorraine, may end up as a
"District of Columbia" for a future
United States of Europe, if general elections on November 30 so shape its destiny.

Two major parties, with similar programs, are fighting for power—
the Christian Democrats, who have held office for the last four years, and Socialists, who are anti-clerical and trade unionist and form the present opposition.

A miner's son, Johannes Hoffman, present premier, leads 28 Christian Democrats who put through the treaty that makes national relations with France similar to those between Luxembourg and Belgium. An anti-Nazi, he fled abroad when Hitler came to power, earning his living as a butler in the Canadian Embassy in Rio de Janeiro.

Heinz Braun, former minister of justice, leads 15 Socialists, who all support the economic union with France. Heinz is a charming and persuasive personality and the brother of Maz Braun, a celebrated Saar Socialist leader who died in exile for opposing Hitler till his sweeping triumphs in 1935.

These two men, German nationalists pretend, are in the pockets of the French.

The fact is that neither wants to run the risk of mixing in with Neo-Nazism as it is showing up in the German Federal Republic.
Both are hard-boiled Saar separatists.

Neither of their parties would agree to licensing pro-German parties in this election. So Dr.
Schneider, leader of the Pan-Germans, is appealing to all German nationalists in the Saar not to vote
at all!

Ninety per cent of Saarlanders
went to the polls in the last election in 1947 in support of a free state in economic union with France. If the percentage of voters falls abruptly this time, it will be easy to calculate how many Saar-landers regret their former decision.

Schneider claims that 50 per cent of the Saarlanders today
would like to join the federal republic, since 90 per cent voted for Hitler in 1935.

Officials consider his estimate ridiculous. They claim that the 950,000 Saarlanders want:

1. A neutral status as between France and Germany — either as a little Switzerland or as the "District of Columbia" for a United States of Europe. Failing these ideals, then a continuance of the treaty with France.

2. To keep their coal, steel and ceramics industries and the profits and taxes for themselves and for their republic.

3. To maintain full employment, which they now have, in contrast with Western Germany's more than 1,000,000 unemployed.

4. To keep German unemployed from flocking into the Saar for jobs.

5. To be Saar nationalists and not Pan-German nationalists.

6. To maintain the profits they are making as a result of the open door into France — but also to be free to sell in Germany, or elsewhere, at will.

7. To be a buffer state between France and Germany and a bridge
of understanding between the nations. Tied in with Germany, the Saar, as a frontier district, received the brunt of punishment in and after World War I and II. Every other house was destroyed or damaged in the latter war.

Maybe it is on the basis of 50 per cent undamaged homes that
Dr. Schneider estimates his Pan-Germans! The fact is that Saar-landers fear the Pan-German nationalists, who accuse them

Mullins Family, Local Women Topics At Society Meeting

A story on the activities of Salem women and a report on the Mullins family made up the program at a meeting this week of the Salem Historical Society in the public library. Speakers were Miss Pearl Walker and Attorney George H. Bewman, Jr.

Notable among Salem women was the late Miss Abbie Whinnery, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Whinnery, who was born here in 1845. Miss Walker included this brief review on her life.

"Miss Whinnery attended Salem schools and graduated from the Glendale Female Seminary. After graduation she remained at the seminary as a teacher and at the same time continued voice training at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music.

"Desiring to continue her studies at the Paris Conservatory of Music, she sailed for France in 1869. She made the trip alone which was unusual for that time. Storms at sea were so terrific that all baggage was thrown overboard in order to preserve the ship; thus Miss Whinnery arrived in Paris possessed with only the clothes she wore.

"Undaunted by this experience, she began studying operatic roles under Madame Rive for the entrance examination at the Paris Conservatory and was admitted two months later. Some months later, because of conditions brought on by the Franco-Prussian War, Miss Whinnery left Paris and went to London, where she began studying with England's greatest singing teacher, William Shakespeare. Her first appearance in England was made in the "Queen's Concert Room." She received great applause from her audience and excellent reports from English critics. One critic commented, "I regard Miss Whinnery's singing as the best I have heard in English Concert."

Opens Music Studio

"Returning to her native land, she lived in Boston. There she taught music and sang with the Boston Symphony orchestra. Opening a studio in Philadelphia, she remained there until her retirement during World War I. She was the teacher of Philadelphia's best singers and of many operatic stars such as Louise Homer. After her retirement she lived in Wind Gap, Pa. Miss Whinnery was proud to be on the Salem Centennial program (1906) with Book-er T. Washington. She died in Wind Gap in 1931.

Miss Eva B. Deming of Salem, another talented musician, was a pupil of Miss Whinnery's. She, too, studied in Paris and London and visited Switzerland and other countries on the continent. Teaching in Philadelphia, Miss Deming was an instructor in sight seeing for teachers there. She was also composer of words and music for several songs. One of the most outstanding was "The Call To Peace." Having a studio in New York City for around 10 years, Miss Deming also trained opera singers. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Deming.

"Dr. Elizabeth Grisell, one of Ohio's first women physicians practiced medicine in Salem for 40 years," Miss Walker said.

Dr. Grisell was the daughter of Charles and Mrs. H. Smith Grisell. She was born Oct. 1, 1830 in New Garden and her family moved to Salem in 1854. She graduated from Western Reserve Medical school in 1856. In Dr. Grisell's day an office call was 50 cents, a home call $1 and a baby's delivery $10. The Grisell home was on S. Lincoln Ave., now occupied by the Robert Campbell family. She died in 1910 after a brief illness.

Dr. Mary White

Dr. Mary White of Cleveland, native of this city, and a graduate of Salem High School, is looking forward to the annual reunion of Salem High graduates next June, which will mark her 75th year. She was a member of the class of '78. After her graduation from High School she taught at Columbia Street School, where she was principal. She is also a graduate of Western Reserve Medical School. Dr. White retired less than 10 years ago.

Among the other Salem High School graduates mentioned by Miss Walker were Mrs. Mason Beaumont of E. Third St., the former Leora I. Welker, Mrs. S. N. Van Blaricom (Maude Grisell) and Miss Nora Hise.

Mrs. Beaumont, member of the class of '75, has the distinction of being the oldest living graduate of the high school. She was also one of Salem's early milliners. A lover of art, she has visited the art galleries in other lands.

Mrs. Van Blaricom, who graduated in 1887, is the first and only woman in the Salem area to have been employed as a telegraph operator on a western railroad. She has another unusual record in that she has been a member of the First Presbyterian Church for 76 years. She now makes her home with her daughter, Mrs. W. H. Falor in Akron.

Miss Hise is the only surviving member of the class of '81. A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Hise, pioneers here, she started to school in 1868. At that time Salem had only two school buildings—the building now occupied by the Central Clinic and the other, the first High School building on E. Fourth St. In her childhood there were no daily papers and no telephones. Miss Hise resides in West Liberty, Ia.

Mullins History

In his chronicle of the Mullins family, Mr. Bowman told how James and William Mullins, two Irish boys came to America in 1849 after the potato famine.

James married Hannah White, whose sister was the mother of the famous Arthur Brisbane. James and Hannah had five children, Ada Jane, William H., Fred J., Walter and Isabel, called Posey. James was a pioneer coal operator of the Tuscarawas Valley. He lived in Wooster and died there in 1920 at the age of 93.

Fred J. Mullins died in 1911 after a successful legal career in Salem in the firm of Carey, Boyle and Mullins. Of his children, Fritz and Isabel now live here, and Arthur resides in Texas.

Walter originally started in the coal business with his father, later joining Mark Hanna in the same business in Cleveland. He died in his late 40's.

Perhaps the most prominent of the Mullins family in Salem history was William H. Mullins, born near Steubenville, Jan. 30, 1856. He made his first $1,000 by buying the junk from a railroad wreck and selling the parts.

The history of the Mullins Co. goes back to 1872, then known as Kittbridge, Clark and Co. In 1875, the National Ornament Co. of Toledo was purchased, moved to Salem and incorporated as Kittbridge Cornice and Ornamental Co. It was succeeded in 1878 by Thompson, Boyle and Co. Bakewell bought out Thompson, forming Bakewell and Mullins, Sheet Metal Statuary and Cornicework.

From this started W. H. Mullins' career as a super salesman, covering this country and Mexico. Mr. Mullins borrowed $50,000 and bought out Mr. Bakewell and found himself with 100 workers, heavily in debt and the depression of 1893 just ahead.

It was about this time that he came into the office with his order for "Diana" to top the new Madison Square Garden building. In celebration he gave a party, distributing $5 gold pieces to all the men in the factory. He was noted for his generosity. Diana now belongs to the Pennsylvania Museum of Art in Philadelphia, and her picture is the trademark of the Mullins Corp.

Famous sculptors worked in Salem on these statues and Mullins statues have adorned many famous buildings. Mr. Mullins conceived the idea for the first all metal boat while hunting in a leaky wooden boat. In 1902 the Mullins Co. turned out the first all-steel body for the Pope-Toledo Auto Co.

Friends Will Treasure Gifts That You Make

To make these handsome Christmas gifts, you need not possess sewing skill. They are easily and quickly put together, using sheeting, terry cloth and huck toweling. Hostess apron (upper left) is made of pastel sheeting, trimmed with ready-made organdy flowers. Place mat (upper center) is cut from sturdy huck toweling, finished with contrasting fringe ends. Sewing bag (upper right) is also huck toweling, contains spool rack bought in a variety store. Shoe bags (lower left) in dark red terry cloth are useful travel items for man or woman. Glass holder (lower left center) takes minutes to make, has bright number in feather stitching. Coat hanger cover (lower right center) is made of pastel sheeting and finished with fancy binding in darker color. Terry bath mitt (lower right) provides touch of luxury, is easily made from two pieces of toweling in contrasting colors.

Past Matrons Of OES Hold Yule Party

"One of the nicest meetings of the year" was the Christmas dinner party enjoyed by 21 members of the Past Matrons Association of Salem Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, Monday evening in the home of Mrs. C. E. Phillips on S. Lincoln Ave. Nearly all members were in attendance.

Officers named include Mrs. Melvin York, president, succeeding Mrs. Myron Kelly, and Mrs. Myron Riegel, retiring worthy matron, who will be the new secretary-treasurer.

The guests were seated at two tables, each attractive in its Christmas appointments. Places were marked with mint cups in red and green. Various members of the group assisted the hostess in serving.

In conjunction with the Christmas party was the celebration of the birthday of Mrs. John Noble of Lisbon. A tree-shaped cake, lighted with a lone candle, honored Mrs. Noble.

At the business session conducted by Mrs. Kelly plans were outlined for the party in the Masonic Temple Jan. 12 when the women will entertain their husbands.

Dessert Luncheon For Hospital Auxiliary

Mrs. H. F. Hoprich will be chairman of the hostess committee for the dessert luncheon planned for members of the Salem City Hospital Auxiliary Thursday at 1 p.m. in the Nurses home. A musical program will follow.

Sewing for the hospital starts at 10 a.m. with any women of the auxiliary assisting in the program. Membership in the auxiliary is open to all women of the community.

Final plans will be made for the "Gardenia Ball" scheduled for Dec. 27 in the Masonic temple. Tickets are now on sale for this event.

Ike's Farm Plan Not Completed

Tells Federation It Won't Hurt Freedom

SEATTLE (AP) — The nation's farmers have been told by President-elect Eisenhower he has not formulated a long-range policy on agricultural legislation but they can be sure any help will not interfere with their freedom of action.

The assurance was given in a message Eisenhower sent to the American Farm Bureau Federation president, Allan B. Kline. The federation is holding its annual convention here.

Eisenhower said he recognized that government must help farmers achieve a stabilized prosperity but he did not specify how he thought this might be done. He indicated a hope the matter could be decided by the time the present law supporting basic agricultural commodities through 1954 expires.

"I hope," he said, "that during the next two years the conditions affecting rural welfare will be thoroughly analyzed and that possible solutions will be discussed in meetings wherever rural people come together."

"The conclusions developed in such nation-wide discussions should in time be expressed to the appropriate committees of Congress and to the membership of the agricultural advisory commission which we are pledged to establish."

The farm bureau members are expected to adopt their recommendations regarding farm supports tomorrow at closing sessions of the four-day meeting, which is being attended by 5,000 members.

The present law supports the price of major commodities at 90 per cent of parity.

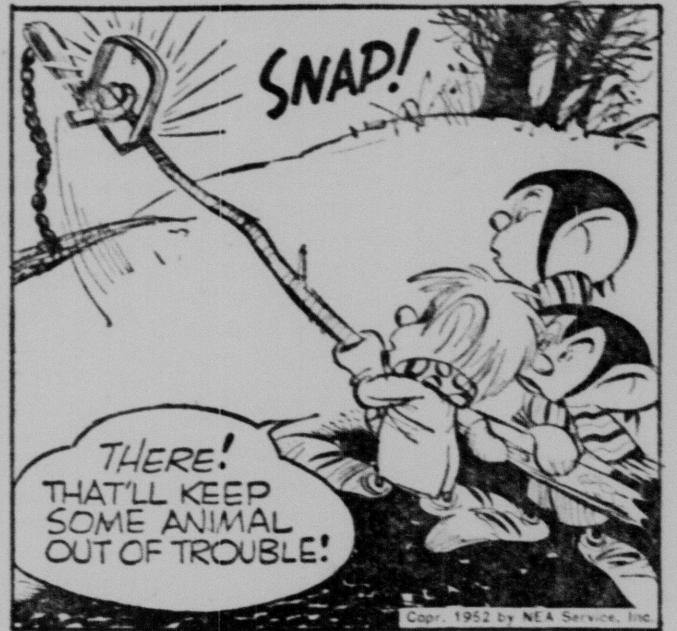

A bushel of fruit in Idaho does not equal a bushel in Tennessee. The "bushel" varies from state to state in the United States and differs for various commodities being measured.

Churchmen Agree More Must Take Active Role In Religion

DENVER (AP) — Protestant leaders agreed today their churches must make active workers of their millions of members if Christianity is to continue as an effective force in American life.

People in all walks of life must be drawn into realistic service, they said, because they carry the spirit of their church to everyday living.

That theme was stressed repeatedly in opening sessions of the Second General Assembly of the National Council of Churches of Christ of the U. S. It appeared in talks by the council president and general secretary, and again in the report of a committee, which appraised the work of the council.

The committee told the council this morning that lay persons must be integrated completely in council activities. It praised the work of church women, said lay men are contributing more and more and recommended an active promotion campaign to the grass roots of the churches.

Tonight's meeting features talks by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (R-Mass.), designated by President-

Study Akron, Youngstown Housing Tags

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government group may decide next week whether to drop Akron and Youngstown, Ohio, from the list of critical defense housing areas.

An official of the government's defense areas advisory committee told a reporter today he hopes for final action by that group by the middle of next week.

Both communities have petitioned for reconsideration of their critical designations. Massillon, Ohio, also has requested removal of the tag.

City officials and business groups have contended that information on which the government declared these areas critical was inaccurate. They have submitted new data on housing and rent conditions and labor supply and turnover.

The committee official said the group "took up the Akron and Youngstown matters for preliminary discussion" at its weekly meeting Tuesday.

The advisory committee is made up of representatives of the Office of Rent Stabilization, the Housing and Home Finance Agency and the Defense Department.

Mrs. Grace Thompson of Calcutta is spending a few days with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wolford.

LISBON POSTOFFICE BUSY
LISBON—Postmaster Earl Richardson said the postoffice is starting to feel the impact of the Christmas rush.

He announced six extra carriers will be added next week to help handle the increasing mail deliveries. The postoffice has a regular staff of 15, including five rural carriers.

Leetonia Yule Lighting Event Will Offer $55 In 4 Prizes

LEETONIA—Entry blanks and contest rules may be secured at business places in Leetonia for the Christmas Home Decoration and lighting contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Entry blanks must be in the hands of the secretary, Ray Hempstead, by Dec. 24. Judging of the contest will be done between Dec. 26 and Dec. 30. A total of $55 is being awarded in prizes for the contest.

A $25 defense saving bond will be awarded for first place in the complete property decoration with $10 for second place.

In the second division, a first prize of $15 will be awarded for the best combined door and window decoration with $5 for second place.

The contest is open to residents of the Leetonia School District which includes the villages of Leetonia, Washingtonville and Franklin Square.

YOUNG ADULT CLASS of the Presbyterian Church will hold a Christmas party and gift exchange tonight at the home of Mrs. Eva S. G. Ashley.

County Probate Court Created 100 Years Ago

LISBON—While digging through some old records Miss Lois Armstrong, veteran probate court employee, discovered the county's probate court is 100 years old this year.

In 1851 the Ohio Constitution established the probate courts in the state. Prior to that date common pleas courts handled all probate matters.

John Reid was the first Columbiana County probate judge taking office in 1852. Judge Louis Tobin, appointed in 1951 to succeed the late Milton C. Cope, is the 16th judge since 1852.

London Fog Speeds Death Of 160 Aged

LONDON (AP) — Four days of oppressive fog which blanketed London earlier this week were blamed today for speeding the deaths of at least 160 elderly persons in the city. The total may exceed 200.

Inquests were few as most of the victims had been under medical attention. The sickening blanket of dirt-laden mist that lifted only yesterday largely aggravated their conditions, hastening death.

Almost all suffered from chest or respiratory ailments or heart disease.

Printers' Strike Closes Most German Papers

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — West Germany's 48 million people —already plagued with a printers' strike that has shut down more than two-third of the nation's newspapers—today faced the possibility that most of the remaining publications also would be forced to close.

The threat was posed early today by a breakdown in negotiations aimed at ending the strike by an overwhelming majority of the nation's 86,000 organized printers. Union leaders refused to accept a compromise wage increase offered by the publishers. No date was set for resumption of talks.

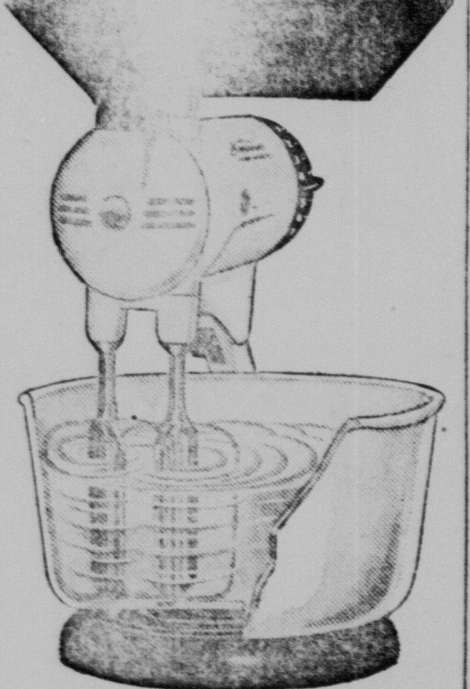

Shaking Bandit Loses Bullet, Gets No Cash

BALTIMORE (AP) — The would-be bandit who entered an East Baltimore grocery last night became so nervous and shook so violently that his revolver came apart in his hand and the lone bullet fell to the floor.

Mrs. Fannie Beall, clerk in the grocery, told police the bandit got down on his hands and knees to retrieve his bullet.

At this point, Mrs. Beall charged the man with a butcher knife and he fled—without the money, his bullet and parts of his gun.

Wall Street

Market Declines After 3-Day Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market turned down moderately today after a sustained three-day advance.

The decline was measured in fractions, usually of the smaller kind, with only an occasional loss of as much as a point.

Volume was maintained at around the two million share level. That compares with 2,120,000 shares traded yesterday.

At no time was there any concentration of selling pressure in the list.

The recent rotating advances involved most major divisions of the market one after another, with emphasis on strength in railroads. Today's decline, as a consequence, took in most areas of the list.

Lower were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, American Telephone, Southern Railway, Texas Co., Johns-Manville, Dome Mines, Dupont, J. I. Case and Douglas Aircraft.

heard the shots and saw Sims running.

Spotting Kane, Sims reportedly pulled out his second weapon and again scored a direct hit—the bullet striking Kane in the chest.

The shooting attracted a fourth officer, Cornelius O'Shea, who fired the shot—striking Sims behind the ear—that ended the fight.

Stray bullets brought injuries to these passersby: Henry Cates, 27, of Manhattan; John Weinzierl, 26, of Long Island City, Queens, and Michael Stutz, 47, the Bronx.

All seven injured were hospitalized.

Police quoted Sims as saying he and some members of his gang were in New York with the intention of "pulling some liquor store holdups."

Sims told police here he was the head of the Cleveland "shotgun gang" but had been in this city for some time. He also was reported known as "Pistol" and "Johnny Wallace."

In Cleveland, Police Inspector James E. McArthur said Sims was a member of a seven-man gang which he described as "one of the most vicious robber gangs in Cleveland crime history."

The inspector said Sims and Cecil Johnson, another Cleveland Negro reported in New York with Sims, were among three members of the gang still at large.

He said the gang—usually working in groups of three or five rather than at full strength—had held up 11 taverns and terrorized patrons. McArthur said they normally included shotguns and revolvers in their armament.

Harr Is Transferred To Ohio Penitentiary

LISBON—Sylvester M. Harr, 21, convicted slayer of Mike Zlatar, was transferred to Ohio State Penitentiary at Columbus today to begin serving a life term for second degree murder.

Harr was sentenced last week by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp after the redheaded youth was found guilty of the brutal beating of the 78-year old Center Township farmer last January. He had been held in Mahoning County jail since his arrest last summer.

peared to be more than the President-elect asking for MacArthur's Korean peace plan. It seemed on this ship that it was a diplomatic move by Eisenhower to heal the breach and give his administration the benefit of MacArthur's long experience in dealing with Far East matters.

MacArthur said: "This is the first time that the slightest official interest in my counsel has been evidenced since my return."

Seen As Rap At Truman

This appeared to be a rap by the five-star general at President Truman, who fired him on April 10, 1951, as Allied commander in the Far East because he was "unable to give his wholehearted support" to U. S. and U. N. policies.

The slap apparently was directed also at those in Truman's administration who have dealt with Far East policy.

It was noted that MacArthur's message said, "My best to you, Ike, as always."

Eisenhower's message to MacArthur said:

"Have just received aboard the US Helena excerpts of your speech before NAM and am gratified by your continued interest in the Korean War which so vitally affects the United States and our allies.

"Naturally I and my associates in the new administration, particularly the secretaries of state and defense, are vitally concerned about Korea and the Far East.

"It will aim, of course, at ultimate peace in that section of the world.

Looks Forward To Talks

"I appreciate your announced readiness to discuss these matters with me and assure you I am looking forward to informal meetings in which my associates and I may obtain the full benefit of your thinking and experience. With personal regard.

"Eisenhower."

And here is the answering radio-gram from MacArthur to Eisenhower:

"For Ike, I have just received your message. I am grateful for your interest in my views concerning solution of the problems involved in the Korean War and the Far East.

"This is especially so because, despite my intimate personal and professional connection and well known concern therewith, this is the first time that the slightest official interest in my counsel has been evidenced since my return.

"A failure of policy there might doom indefinitely the progress of civilization.

"A successful solution on the other hand might well become the key to peace in the world. You know, without my saying, that my service is, as it always has been, entirely at the disposition of our country. My best to you, Ike. As always.

"MacArthur"

MacArthur's proposals 20 months ago included bombing of Red Chinese bases in Manchuria, blockading the Red China coast and amphibious landings on the China mainland by Nationalist forces from Formosa.

But MacArthur indicated Friday that changed conditions called for a revised plan. He said public disclosure or discussion now would be improper.

In Washington, a high Defense Department official said it was MacArthur's duty as a soldier to present the plan through Army channels "without further ado and without making a speech about it."

Fined At Lisbon

LISBON—Clarence E. Flint, 29, of Kent was fined $70 and costs at a hearing before Mayor Wilbur Warren.

He was fined $50 and costs for reckless operation and $20 and costs for failure to stop when ordered by a policeman. Another charge of driving while intoxicated was dismissed.

Flint was arrested on Ro. 30 early Tuesday morning after a chase by Lisbon police.

"All he does is cash dividend checks"

Last Tuesday, we ordered 20 shares of stock in a utility company for a customer of ours. While we were entering the purchase in the records of his account, this fact jumped out and hit us:

Though he has bought stock 33 times and sold 17 times, this customer hasn't been in our office since the day he opened his account in 1938!

All of his selling and buying was done by telephone. We've kept his stock certificates for him; We've collected his dividends, and sent them on to him. We've kept him posted on all his stockholder privileges. Regularly we send him a complete statement of his account.

Know what these services have cost him? Except for our commission when he bought or sold, not a penny. All free—just part of our way of doing business. If you've always been "too busy to invest," maybe you ought to come in and see how we can take the load off your shoulders.

17 Changes In Rules To Affect Basketball

As the opening of the Salem basketball season rapidly approaches, there has been considerable comment about the rule changes that have been put into effect for this year.

In all, there have been 17 changes, but only a few actually will

Odds On Haney As Pirates' New Manager

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirate fans will give you odds to-day that Fred Haney will be the next Pirate manager. General Manager Branch Rickey says nothing's sure but he called Haney here for a talk tomorrow.

Haney, manager of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League for the past four years, has been considered a strong contender for the post ever since Billy Meyer resigned at the end of last season.

Rickey said Haney is flying to Pittsburgh from his California home to discuss the possibility of his taking over the reins of the National League cellar-dwelling Pirates. But the Mahatma added: "I can't honestly tell whether I will name him manager or not. There are several things dependent on the decision, the main one being if he really wants to become the Pirate manager."

"Another factor concerns his health. He must decide whether he is well enough to tangle with a difficult job."

The fans and Rickey alike agree that taking over the Pirates will have its dark days. The club finished seventh in 1951 and last this year.

Rickey has been recruiting young inexperienced ballplayers, but has promised the Pittsburgh fans a pennant contender within a few years. The fans will expect the new manager to come through on that promise.

Leetonia Cagers Lose Third Game

Leetonia lost its third cage game of the season against no wins when it went down before Sebring 71 to 36 Tuesday night at Sebring.

Little doubt of the eventual outcome was left following the half mark of the game when Sebring led 45 to 13. Joe Billett scored highest for Leetonia with a total of seven points. Jordan led the attack of the winners with a total of 21 points.

Leetonia's reserved edged out their opponents by a score of 31 to 29.

Baltimore Seeks Pro Football Team

BALTIMORE (AP)—Backers of the drive to bring professional football back to Baltimore were halfway over the hump today—but with the hardest part of the row left to hoe. Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League told the city he would transfer the Dallas franchise here if Baltimore fans put up $250,000 in season ticket sales. This meant selling 15,000 season tickets.

In the first two days of the drive, ticket manager Herb Wright reported that 7,000 ducats have been sold or pledged for. But, he added, "from now on the going will be tougher."

Baltimore has until Jan. 22—the date of the league meeting—to sell the tickets.

Biggie Munn Named Coach Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Biggie Munn, coach of Michigan State's powerful Spartans today was named football coach of the year in the 18th annual poll conducted by Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Munn, whose Spartans were voted the top team in the nation in the annual Associated Press poll, collected 139 first place votes out of the 491 cast by members of the American Football Coaches Association.

Bobby Dodd, mentor of Georgia Tech's unbeaten Engineers, finished second with 99 first place votes. Jess Hill, coach of Southern California's Rose Bowl bound Trojans, finished third with 55. Chuck Taylor of Stanford won the 1951 award.

Lisbon Grid Receipts Amount To $8,220

LISBON—L. O. Carpenter, Lisbon High School faculty manager of athletes, reported receipts of a total of $8,220 from all sources during the 1952 football season.

The total also includes a balance of $739 carried over from the 1951 season. He reported $4,992 was spent during the season with about an additional $500 to be expended.

Carpenter said the largest game was with Leetonia when a total of $2,051.65 was realized.

Boosters To Meet

All old and new officers are requested to attend the Booster Club meeting scheduled for 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the Memorial Building.

John Cabas, Salem basketball coach, will give a talk on the coming season and show motion pictures. This will be the first Booster basketball meeting of the season.

Writers Make Boxing Awards

Marciano, Barton Picked For Trophies

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano and George Barton, president of the National Boxing Association, today were chosen to receive the Boxing Writers Association's two main trophies, the Edward J. Neil and the James J. Walker memorial plaques.

At the same time the writers selected Pete Mello, co-coach of the record-breaking Olympic boxing team, to receive a special award. Mello, of the New York Catholic Youth Organization, coaches the CYO's boxing squad and the New York Golden Gloves team.

The trophies will be presented to the three at the association's 15th annual dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Jan. 15.

The Neil plaque is presented annually to the Fighter of the Year and the man who has done the most for the sport during the year. Marciano qualified admirably on both counts. He won boxing's most prized crown by knocking out Jersey Joe Walcott in the 13th round at Philadelphia, Sept. 23, and has been a credit to the game.

The Neil plaque is named in memory of the former Associated Press boxing writer who was killed in 1937 while serving as a war correspondent in Spain.

Barton, veteran sportswriter for the Minneapolis Tribune, who has devoted the best part of his life as a boxer, referee, writer and commissioner, will receive the Walker plaque for "long and meritorious service" to boxing.

He is also chairman of the Minnesota Athletic Commission.

Salineville Wins Over Fairfield

Fairfield lost its fourth basketball game out of six Tuesday night when its cagers went down 76 to 68 at Salineville.

Don Blosser and John Mellinger paced Fairfield with respective total scores of 24 and 18. Salineville's Bramler led the attack of the winners by scoring 11 goals and nine fouls for a total of 31 points.

Fairfield's reserves extended their winning record to five out of six games as they overcame their opponents 31-29. Augusta will play at Fairfield Friday night.

Fordham Is Rated Leader In Passing

NEW YORK (AP)—Fordham's passing attack, which didn't pay off in football victories this fall, led the nation's major colleges in 1952 with an average of 225.8 yards gained per game.

Final statistics from the N. C. A. A. Service Bureau today disclosed emphasis on the aerial game shifting to the Midwest and East. Of the top 18 teams in passing, nine were from the Midwest and five from the East, with Fordham the first team in history ever to throw the ball more often than run it.

In total offense the 1952 laurels went to Tulsa University for the second year in a row.

In 10 contests, Tulsa made an average of 466.6 yards, 321.5 by running.

Trailing Fordham were Illinois, with 214.3 yards per game, fifth best all time mark; Detroit with 196.6, Ohio State with 189.9, and Cincinnati with 186.4.

LINEMAN OF THE YEAR. Donn Moomaw (above), UCLA's All America linebacker, has been named Lineman of the Year in the Associated Press poll. He is a six foot, four inch, 220 pound senior from Santa Ana, Calif. Many opponents describe him as the most ferocious tackler they ever faced.

Big Ten Votes For Regional TV Control

NEW YORK (AP)—The major points of the national college athletic policies for the coming year likely will be settled during the next few days, although there may be a rousing fight in Washington next month before the sectional groups reach an agreement.

This is the week when most of the major conferences meet to thresh out their own ideas and to decide what courses they will follow in the National Collegiate Athletic Association in meetings in Washington, Jan. 8-10.

The issues are about the same as those of the past few years—financial aid to athletes; restrictions on practice and length of seasons, particularly in football and basketball; television; freshman rules and bowl games.

The Big Ten, getting a week's jump on most of the others, already has gone on record as favoring regional instead of national control of football television. The coaches and athletic directors also expressed opposition to the 20-session, 30-day limit on spring football practice and the faculty representatives, after slapping down a couple of coaches for violating the recruiting regulations, decided that in the future the guilty parties in such cases will be publicly identified.

The powerful Big Ten and the 90-member Eastern College Athletic Conference have served in the past as indicators of what actions likely will be taken at the NCAA convention.

The ECAC started yesterday on what nominally is a series of group meetings and schedule-making sessions with a brief general convention to take place Friday afternoon.

There's nothing very exciting on the ECAC agenda, but there are indications that yesterday's meeting of the group's Television Committee will produce a report that will indicate what the NCAA television group is planning for next season. And there's a good chance that the University of Pennsylvania again will make a pitch for unlimited TV as it did last year.

REJECTED BY ARMY

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Harvey Kuenn, bonus shortstop of the Detroit Tigers, was rejected for military service today.

State selective service headquarters said a knee injury suffered in high school football was the cause of rejection.

Columbiana Beats N. Lima For 5th Win

The Columbiana Clippers continued their unbeaten ways last night at Columbiana, dumping the North Lima cagers 57 to 48.

Don McBride, with 13 points, and Matt Powers with 12, set the pace for Columbiana. Bill Yoho, who accounted for six baskets and eight free throws for a total of 20 points, was the standout on the North Lima team.

The Columbiana reserves won also, 57-28.

Columbiana faces Salem High School on the Columbiana court Friday night.

COLUMBIANA — 57
Don McBride, 5-3-13; McVay, 1-0-2; Bailey, 2-3-7; Hicks, 1-0-2; Gilchrist, 4-1-9; Patchen, 3-0-6; Matt Powers, 4-4-12; Case, 1-4-6.

N. Jackson Shades Greenford 51-47

The Greenford High basketball team lost a thriller at North Jackson last night, losing 51-47.

The Greenford boys held a two-point lead at the half but fell behind in the third period. Bruce Feicht accounted for 18 points to help the Greenford cause.

It was Greenford's fourth loss of the season against one victory.

The Greenford reserves beat the Jackson Reserves 37-30.

Greenford's next game will be with New Waterford Friday night on their home floor.

NORTH JACKSON — 51
Bayton, 5-5-15; Chepke, 3-6-12; Andrews, 4-1-9; Harshman, 2-3-7; Moherman, 2-1-5; Naynick, 1-0-2; Wierkes, 0-1-1.

Dixie Walker Joins Cardinals As Coach

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Fred Walker, "Dixie" as he is better known in baseball circles, is joining the St. Louis Cardinals as a coach.

Dixie fills the spot left by the going of Terry Moore, one-time Cardinal great who didn't see eye-to-eye with Manager Eddie Stanky.

Moore joined the Philadelphia Phillies as a scout.

Rote Of Green Bay Leads Van Brocklin In Passing

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Tobin Rote, the co-quarterback of the Green Bay Packers, held on grimly to the National Football League's passing leadership today though hard-pressed by Norm Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams.

Rote, a three-year veteran in the NFL, has shared the quarterbacking duties for the Packers with Vito (Babe) Parilli, former Kentucky Wildcat great who's doing very well in his freshman year in the play-for-pay game.

Rote, who sometimes starts and sometimes sits on the bench in favor of Parilli, has completed 69 of 132 passes—a 52.3 percentage—for an average gain of 8.48 yards. Van Brocklin has hit for 96 of 177, with an average of 8.18 yards gained on each heave. Van Brocklin's completion percentage is the best in the league.

Parilli is in third place in the passing parade with 67 of 155 aeriels completed for an average gain of 7.97 yards per completion. In fourth place is Cleveland's veteran Otto Graham who has thrown 332 passes, completed 163, the most in the league for an average gain of 7.64 yards and a total 2,537 yardage.

In the rushing department, Los Angeles Dan Towler continues in the No. 1 spot, carrying the pigskin 144 times, gaining a total of 821 yards for a 5.7-yard average. Far behind is New York's Eddie Price who has carried 183 times for 748 yards, or 4.1 yards a try, with San Francisco's Hugh McElhenny—an early season leader—third with 659 yards on 93 carries.

Cleveland's Mac Speedie, target for many of Graham's bullet passes, retained the pass-catching leadership, snaring 56 for a total gain of 856 yards. Not far behind is Gordon Soltan of San Francisco with 54 for 759 and Philadelphia's Harry Grant with 52 for 941.

Soltan, who has caught seven touchdown passes, leads the scorers with 88 points. Besides the TD's this includes 31 extra points and five field goals. In second place is Cleveland's Lou Groza who has 82 points on 31 extra points and 17 field goals.

Horace Gillom, Cleveland Brown star, still is defending successfully his punting title. Gillom has averaged 46.5 yards on each of his 59 kicks with Detroit's Bob Smith not far behind with a 45-yard average on 56 boots.

Jack Christiansen of the Detroit Lions took the lead in the punt return department having lugged back 15 boots a total of 322 yards, or an average 21.5 yards each. Woodley Lewis of Los Angeles, last week's leader, fell to second with 17 returns for 305 yards, an average of 17.9.

In kickoff returns, Pittsburgh's Lynn Chandois retained his leadership, carrying back 17 for a total of 599 yards, including two for touchdowns and one on a 93-yard run. In second place was Eddie

Chuck Davey Heavy Favorite Over Fizzie Pruden Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP)—Chuck Davey, the slickest fighters ever to come off a college campus, puts his fistic power on display again tonight in a nationally televised bout with veteran Fizzie Pruden.

Although Davey is a top-heavy favorite, a sellout crowd of 13,000 is forecast for the contest heading a card of five 10-rounders on the Cleveland News Toyshop Fund Show.

A shorty southpaw who moves about continuously, 26-year-old Davey expects to get a title bout early next year with welterweight champion Kid Gavilan. The fight probably will take place in Chicago in February.

Pruden, a slugger from Canada who now fights out of Patterson, N. J., boasts a record of 56 victories in 65 fights.

Davey originally was scheduled to meet Del Flanagan, a St. Paul fancy dan. After the bout was announced, however, the Michigan State graduate protested Flanagan's style was too similar to his own and the bout would not be a crowd-pleaser.

Flanagan will scrap with Richie Anderson, New York welterweight, in one of the other 10-rounders.

Davey, a Lansing, Mich. resident now on leave from his English teaching job at Michigan State, is a big favorite with television audiences.

Bearcats, Miami Rate 10 On All-Stars

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Cincinnati's bristling Bearcats and Miami's rampaging Redskins, who placed 1-2 in the tough Mid-American Conference, each placed five men on the conference squad announced today by The Associated Press.

Miami's ace halfback Tom Pagna of Akron, and Al Feeney of Western Reserve, a Little All-America defensive end, headed the balloting.

Another Western Reserve stalwart, Harold Carroll, is paired with Pagna at halfback. Carroll was an all-around handyman as he averaged better than five yards per carry, caught 11 passes for 118 yards, intercepted six passes and was crack kick return artist.

The quarterback is Cincinnati's Gene Rossi, the little southpaw pitcher who completed 100 of 170 aeriels for 1559 yards and 12 scores.

Fred Durig of Bowling Green copped the fullback post. The 198-pound Durig scored 54 points in concluding his college career.

Ohio U. and Western Reserve were awarded three spots on the two-10 platoon team. Toledo and Bowling Green had two and Kent State and Western Michigan one each.

Here are the selections, made for The Associated Press by the league's coaches and sports writers:

Columbiana

Manos Theater Nearly Done

Building May Be Finished In January

COLUMBIANA—George Manos, theater owner, said yesterday he expects to have the new theater at the northwest corner of the public square completed by the middle of January.

The big plastering job was started Tuesday, and the marquee extending on each side of the corner entrance will be completed this week. New red-tinted cement walks cover the entire area from the theater building to the curb in front and along the side. Mr. Manos had plans to hard surface the entire triangle grass plot in the corner of the square adjacent to the theater, but the village council refused to sanction removal of a shade tree.

As the sidewalks around the corner and unsited to the accommodation of theater crowds, he is willing to surface any part of it that council will permit. The grass plot enclosed by the triangle will soon be trampled into an expanse of mud by theater crowds if more convenient arrangements are not made.

OFFICERS WERE installed last evening for Columbiana Chapter, O.E.S., by Winfred Martin, installing officer, and her staff, Kathryn Foerch, marshal; Hazel Re-erick, chaplain; Mary Lyder, associate matron; Elsie Crosby, conductress; Alice Snook, warder; Thelma McNab, organist; J. E. Hollenshead, sentinel.

The officers for 1953 are: Marie Lundgren, worthy patron; John Sittler, worthy patron; Emma Burkholder, associate matron; Alfred Drasdo, associate patron; Louise Gornley, secretary; Sylvai Smith, treasurer; Helen Uelton, conductress; Kathryn Porter, associate conductress; Marguerite Slagle, chaplain; Lillian Reash, marshal; Lydia Patchen, organist; Vida Wenderoth, Adah; June McBane, Ruth; Marjorie Cole, Esther; Ruth Willis, Martha; Virginia Wade, Electa; Sevilla Sittler, warder; Carol Keller, sentinel.

Christmas decorations adorned the lodge room for the installation and the dining room for the lunch that followed the program, which included two vocal solos by Mrs. Mary Griffin, and the presentation of pins by Mrs. McNab to Elsie Crosby, retiring worthy matron, and by Mr. Sittler to Carl Keller, retiring worthy patron.

THE BOARD of education of Columbiana exempted school district, at its meeting Monday evening, discussed reconditioning of the boys' restrooms in the High School department of the High School building, which will be made a project for next summer.

Also discussed was the health program of the county health department, the Parent Teacher Organization, and the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs. The program includes a check of eyes, ears, teeth, tonsils, and immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus.

WILLIAM B. ARN, who will be installed as president of the Kiwanis Club with the other officers Monday evening, Dec. 29, held a school of instruction for incoming officers at the club meeting Monday evening.

Ladies night will be observed in connection with the installation, the place to be announced later.

Program Chairman Dick Gaughn presented as the speaker at the meeting Monday evening Robert Blackburn of Salem, an Internal Revenue Bureau agent.

Wayne Paulson, program chairman for next Monday evening, will present as the speaker Don Smith of East Liverpool.

KENNETH C. Herriott of East Palestine, president of the Ohio Truckers Association, speaker at the meeting of the Rotary Club Monday evening, gave the truckers' viewpoint on the taxation and highway programs. He was presented by Edwin Dillon, program chairman.

The Columbiana Youngs will play the Youngstown Jet Air Force Base Jr. Columbiana High School gym this evening, with a preliminary game scheduled for about 7.

The Music Study Club will meet

To Probe Liquor Sale To Minors In Ohio

COLUMBUS (AP)—State liquor Director W. C. Bryant has launched a probe into the selling of liquor to minors by state liquor stores.

At the same time he said local officials also have a responsibility in the matter and cited liquor tax contributions to local governments that more than defray the cost of enforcing state liquor laws. He issued a challenge to permit holders to accept their responsibility in enforcement.

Bryant's investigation announcement came at the same time Cincinnati's police chief warned the several hundred members of the Buckeye Retail Liquor Dealers Association to "purge the organization of bad boys or we'll have another prohibition era."
